

E.line electromechanical lock system

EXM introduces the E.line electromechanical lock system. This new high-end product line represents the next generation of cabinet access control solutions.

E.line swinghandles can be used standalone, in electronic master-slave systems and remote access control systems. This modular line is fully expandable.

E.line's technical capabilities are completed by an aesthetic European design. E.line handles can be installed on all Mtrx modular cabinets.

Remote access control through the internet

Online system configuration and access log

Local master-slave interlock systems available

Local access via a keypad with a digital LED screen

Simple stand-alone systems also available

Sleek European design

Data subject to change without notice.